

Top Tips for Video Interview Victory!

1. Make sure you're presentable

Ditch the home clothes and put on something that you would wear for a face-to-face interview. First impressions are vital!

2. Set up your camera in a clean and tidy space

Make sure that the surrounding area - the room that you're in - is tidy and kept free from any unnecessary items.

3. Avoid noisy environments where possible

Choosing an appropriate environment says a lot about how serious you are about making the right impression. The best place to do your video interview is in your own home.

4. Check your audio and WIFI settings beforehand

"I can hear you, can you hear me?" Make sure that you check your audio, video and WIFI settings beforehand, to avoid feeling exasperated before the interview has even begun.

5. Don't forget face-to-face etiquette

Always look at the screen or camera, as if you're keeping eye contact. Just make sure that your gaze is focused.

6. Get across your enthusiasm

It's important to be mindful of your on-screen demeanor when answering multiple interview questions. Have a list of questions ready to ask at the end of the call to show your interest in the role.
